

10/6/69

Dear Manny,

I have to be in New York 10/22 for lunch with a publisher. While my plans are not yet definite, I'll probably get to NY about midday Tuesday the 21st.

I think it would be a good idea if we could get together, if your schedule permits.

Unless I hear otherwise from you, I'll phone your office on arrival.

It will be possible for me to stay overnight the 22nd.

The thing on the legal fees with Dell continues to drag. The New Orleans lawyer provided a breakdown of his charges about a month ago. On getting my copy, I wrote Blair. I have heard nothing from him. My hunch is that he is negotiating with Sage's lawyer, who appears to have soaked Sage for what I paid for in New Orleans, making it a bit delicate.

Sincerely,

Harold Weisberg
